

STEPHENSON IS FORMALLY OUT

Junior United States Senator From Marinette Seeks Renomination Now.

MEANS A SPIRITED FIGHT IS ON

His Declaration Is Clear And Consise And Is Endorsed By Many Janesville Republicans—Once Lived In Rock County.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Milwaukee, Wis., June 25.—United States Senator James Stephenson has announced that he will not be a candidate for renomination at the republican primaries in September next.

While this has been anticipated by Mr. Stephenson's close friends for some time past the junior senator did not make an official statement until last evening as he was about to leave for his home in Marinette.

While it is anticipated that this will bring about a spirited contest with the other three candidates in the field, S. A. Cook of Neenah, former state senator of New London, and District Attorney McDevore of Milwaukee, it is not anticipated that any of the three will withdraw.

Mr. Stephenson, it is known, had been recently requested to run by republicans all over the state regardless of factional affiliations and it is anticipated now that a strong and aggressive campaign will be waged in his behalf. It is doubtful in view of his announcement that Congressman Cooper of Racine will become a candidate as was anticipated at the close of the Chicago convention.

The announcement of Senator Stephenson's candidacy was well received by the Janesville politicians.

Hon. Ogden L. Fetherly said: "Senator Stephenson's statement is brief and not the least bit obscure. He declares himself to be in full sympathy and harmony with the republican platform recently adopted at Chicago, and that he stands for the policies in the institution of which Wisconsin has taken so prominent a part. That he has the respect and confidence of President Roosevelt and Secretary Taft is well known. He has never wavered in his support of legislation desired by the President and is entitled to the loyal assistance of Wisconsin republicans."

Hon. Philip Norcross, member of the assembly, said: "Stephenson made a success of his term as senator and should pay by all means support him and send him back for another term. He deserves it just as Davidson deserves another term as governor."

H. L. McNamara, chairman of the Republican County committee, said: "From the record he made in the closing sessions of congress he deserves renomination and should be supported."

F. S. Sheldon said: "I consider Senator Stephenson by all odds the strongest candidate for the place. He will please the people generally better than any of the others."

District Attorney John L. Fisher said: "Senator Stephenson deserves renomination. He has made an excellent senator. I have been for him from the first."

Victor P. Richardson said: "I have given the subject very little consideration and would prefer to make no statement at this time."

Fred Clemons said: "While I have an opinion, I do not care to make it public."

M. P. Richardson said: "I haven't given the subject much consideration; I should regard either Mr. Stephenson or Mr. McDevore as a suitable man. Would not care to express my preference at this time."

H. P. Dunlap said: "I think that Senator Stephenson deserves a second term. I also think that the sentiment in the county is rather in favor of Senator Stephenson than otherwise."

County Clerk Lee said: "Stephenson deserves the renomination and I hope he wins out with a big majority."

Grand U. Fisher is in Milwaukee on business today and could not be interviewed.

30,000 BASS FRY PLANTED NEAR AFTON

Bass Creek May Again Become One of Rock County's Greatest Fish.

Thirty thousand black bass fry, shipped from the state fishery station at Doumaun, arrived at Afton this morning and were planted in Bass creek, a tributary of the Rock river which is about twenty-five miles long and at one time furnished some of the finest piscatorial sport in this locality. Game Warden Peter Drafaul made application for these fry four years ago but as they cannot be hatched artificially and have to be reared in ponds and caught with nets, the supply is limited and applicants have to be served in turn. If people take an interest in protecting the small fish, seeing to it that only 10-inch fish are taken out, as provided by law, during the coming years, the old time good fishing may be restored.

Searching for "Ring-Tails": Deputy Game Warden Peter Drafaul invited William Boeche into W. W. Nash's store to "see a fine string of fish" this morning. The idea being to use him as a witness against a certain out-of-town fisherman who is alleged to have been delivering more game-fish to local groceries than he is allowed to catch by law. Mr. Straupe, one of the clerks, found the two men in the cellar and ordered them out. Mr. Boeche was going to swear out a warrant for assault and battery but thought better of it. The game warden threatens to prosecute for "resisting an officer." "They were probably looking for ring-tailed bass," said Mr. Nash in speaking of the incident. "They had no business in my basement without a search-warrant, as I understand the law, and the boys simply told them to get out."

On the first anniversary of the tragedy young Thaw was still a prisoner in the Tombs awaiting the beginning of his second trial. The second anniversary finds him in more comfortable quarters in the Poughkeepsie Jail, awaiting the action of the courts to determine whether he shall be returned to the prison for the criminal insane at Matteawan or transferred to some private institution.

AMERICAN GIRL TO MARRY A SPANIARD

Miss Elsie Mainzer Reported Engaged to a Spanish Nobleman
In Paris.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, June 25.—A dispatch from Paris says that an addition will be made to the list of American heiresses who have married foreign noblemen when Miss Elsie H. Mainzer of this city becomes the bride tomorrow of the Marquis Fernando del Florio, the descendant of an old Spanish family and for several years one of the chamberlains at the Vatican. The wedding is to be an elaborate affair, the guests who will be present including a large number of the Papal representatives of various European countries at the Vatican and several Spanish and French noble connections of the del Florio.

The heiress is the daughter of the late Bernhard Mainzer, of the great banking firm of Hallgarten & Co., of Berlin, Frankfurt-on-the-Main, and New York. Since the death of Mr. Mainzer, three years ago, his wife and daughter have spent the greater part of their time in Europe. While sojourning in Rome a year ago, they attended a function at which the leading members of the Roman aristocracy were present, and upon this occasion the Marquis del Florio was presented to Miss Mainzer by Robbt, the painter. A romance developed immediately, and the aged Marquis was also captivated by the young American girl and approved her son's choice.

The Marquis del Florio is thirty-three years old and is direct descendant of the Duke of Salaparuta, one of the most conspicuous figures in Spanish history. He and his mother, who is sixty-two years old and known all over southern Europe for her charities, have lived in Rome for a number of years. Here the young Marquis attracted favorable attention by his painting and musical ability. Several years ago the coveted honor of a chamberlainship at the Vatican was bestowed upon him. The twenty-one chamberlains are the personal attendants and also act in the capacity of secretaries to the Pope.

CURRENT ITEMS.

Cut Down Large Elm: In order to make way for the projected flat building on the old Parker homestead at the corner of East Milwaukee and Division streets, R. L. Colvin, the new owner, finds that it will be necessary to cut down a giant elm tree which has stood there half a century. The large branches of this great tree have shaded the entire front yard and a large portion of the adjoining street and it is estimated that these and the trunk will provide six cords of fire wood.

Spread For The Police: Rev. J. W.
Langhille visited the police station
last evening and in behalf of the ladies of the Presbyterian congregation presented a large box of bread and butter sandwiches, which had been left over from a social given at the church parlor. The prisoners in the lock-up and the officers thoroughly appreciated the gift and the thoughtful kindness which inspired it.

Off For Japan And China: Rev. and Mrs. R. C. Denison and children and Donald Kenneth and Michael Joffre departed for California about four o'clock yesterday afternoon, and many friends were at the depot to wish them a pleasant journey. Mrs. Denison and children will visit for several weeks in the Golden State and Rev. Denison and the Messrs. Joffre will sail on the "Mongolia" for Yokohama, Japan, on Tuesday, the 30th. The party of four will spend nearly three months in the Island Kingdom and China.

East Milwaukee St. Paving: After a considerable delay caused by the non-arrival of brick, the Cleveland, Ohio, firm of Dunn & Mead is again rushing the East Milwaukee street paving work and the east side of the Wisconsin street intersection has already been paved. The paving of this section of the city's main thoroughfare will be one of the improvements of the year.

Bees' Hive In Cable Box: Robert
Wright, telegrapher for the Wisconsin
Telephone Co., was unpleasantly surprised by a swarm of bees at the top of a forty foot pole at the corner of Main and Race streets yesterday.
The bees had established themselves in the cable-box and so industri-ously resented his intrusion that a hasty retreat became imperative.
Subsequently he and Charles Knoff returned to attack and drive out the colony and secured ten quarts of white honey for their pains. The bees had lived almost the entire interior of the box with the honey comb.

CHAMBERLIN URGED
TO WITHDRAW NAME

Meeting of Beloit Republicans Ask Him to Do So But He Refused.

Beloit, June 25.—At a meeting of about thirty Beloit republicans with J. Nelson Chamberlin, candidate for the state senate, that gentleman was urged to withdraw from the race, but he declines to do so. Most of those present at the meeting paid high tribute to Mr. Chamberlin, as a man, but thought Mr. Whitehead had had more experience in legislative matters and was better qualified for the office because of his legal education. It was evident that they preferred to see Mr.
Whitehead succeed himself.

CELEBRATION UNCERTAIN.

For two weeks Beloit men have been trying to arrange a Fourth of July celebration, but have met with much discouragement. The latest annoyance the committee has met with is the refusal of the union band here to march in the parade if the city band is engaged. Just how the matter will be settled is not known.

TO LOWER ASSESSMENTS.

The assessors of the city have decided that some of the values of real and several reductions in assessments have been made.

REMARKABLE LETTER
OF LITTLE JAP BOY

T. Shimizu, a Protege of Mr. and Mrs.
Carlisle Hibbard, Sends Them
Greetings.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlisle Hibbard recently received the following letter from one of the students at the Higher Commercial school in Tokyo, Japan, which is interesting both in style and expression. The letter was written by T. Shimizu, a Japanese lad of eighteen or nineteen years of age who was a protege of Mr. and Mrs.
Hibbard while they were in Japan and the Gazette is pleased to be permitted to publish it for the benefit of its readers.

Tokio, May 1st, 1908.
My Dear Mr. and Mrs. Hibbard:
How are you and your family? I think you are now enjoying a pleasant summer days. I have remained in school for a long time—for which I slog for your pardon. I have pleasure to inform you that I am quite well as usual, always working hard and passing day by day happily. Now that the annual examination is very near at hand, I am occupied in preparing myself for it. But it will be over long before this letter reaches you.

On the 9th last, there was a heavy snow-fall which, to my great sorrow, did very great damage to the means of communication, cutting almost all the telegraphic and telegram wires.
Even the wires of tram cars could not bear the weight of the snow. The air not being far below freezing the flakes were large, damp and adhesive. The whole city was shrouded in as thick as a foot and all trees bleamed in one night. It was a pathetic sight to see the cherry blossoms peeping out under the snow white pine trees, though with more snow on it was not daunted. On seeing this sight in the way to school, the idea first occurred to me that we must be late in the morning for attending the true end of life in this school where we have constant snow-falls and worse still, are attacked by snow-storms at times, and it is only from blind secured by humanity and justice and brave heart with tears that enable us to push our way through the hazards of the world, and get to the barber of heaven. But at present the cherry blossoms are gone and the full bloom of exiles has passed; the summer is really beginning.

On the 1st and 2nd last, the annual exhibition of the English department of our school was held. I am very proud to say that it was done with greater success than ever, though far from our ideal. The program consisted of one reading, three plays, the two of which were written by Prof.
A. Lloyd, and the other, Julius Caesar.
(Act I, one and two scenes) and three speeches, namely, "Humanity and the Struggle for Existence," "The Superior Commercial Education in Japan," and "Over the Sea." The two plays by Prof. A. Lloyd were "A Ma-riage Monopoly," and "The Dreamer," the former being acted by the professors, the latter by the students. These two plays were very interesting, especially the latter, which had hit upon the point of ambition lying in the bottom of the mind of the students and entirely destroyed the castle in the air. Believing that these will make you laugh. As we are through work in the evening I will send you the copy of them in the beginning of the coming vacation. The Shakespearean play was taken by the second year students among whom you will find Mr. Wakabayashi, Mr. Kuga and myself.

As to the party, I am sorry to say that the number of the members of the party has been reduced to four, yet two of my fellow students having joined us it consists of six members at present who are studying the 20th century new testament under the lead of Mr. Waterhouse.

You told us that you were asked many questions about Japan by your countrymen. Though I am proper to answer the questions myself, I think it unnecessary because you can give the satisfactory answers to them.
Therefore I should like to close my long letter with this hope that you will introduce or interpret our countrymen in the light you saw them during your long stay in Japan.

Sincerely yours,
T. SHIMIZU.

ANNUAL "HIKE" OF
A CHICAGO CHORUS

Twenty-Eight Members of the Baptist
Men's Chorus in Janesville Yesterday.

Yesterday afternoon a crowd was attracted to the corner of Franklin and Milwaukee streets by hearing twenty-eight men, dressed in walking costume, sing "The Boys of the Old Brigade." The attire of the singers was particularly appropriate for the song for they all looked like old campaigners with their sunburned cheeks, their slouch hats, their blue flannel shirts and the dusty shoes and clothes.
The men were members of the Chicago Baptist Men's chorus on their annual tramp.

The chorus is a purely Christian organization made up of all classes and ages of men picked from all parts of the city of Chicago. The entire chorus consists of eighty-six members but only thirty-five started out with them on the tramp, and six of those have had to return before it was completed. The members that went out were in Madison Saturday, Sunday and Monday, leaving there on three-o'clock Monday afternoon. During their stay in Madison they gave a concert at the First Baptist church Saturday and played a game of baseball with the members of the Boy's Brotherhood, Monday, and beat them
ten to three.

From Madison they went to Oregon, arriving there Monday night
where they spent the night in a hay
mow. Yesterday noon they reached Stoughton and last night they slept in a barn near Albion. As they sing for the farmers as they pass along the people come out and treat them to buttermilk, lemonade, cookies and cider and such good things and are told that the chorus will spend a night in their barn. They have enjoyed the trip every bit of the way though they struck some pretty hard walking in the rain yesterday morning. From here they went by train to Delavan and from there they intended to go to Geneva and Fox Lake, returning to Chicago by way of Elgin.

They expect to be back in Chicago by next Saturday.

One of the conditions of the "hike"
was that the members should not sleep
in a bed during the entire trip.
Usually arrangements are made for accommodation in barns where the new hay is made into bales and considered. The party have enjoyed the trip immensely and with the exception of the ride from Janesville to Delavan, have walked the entire distance.

Hundred Dollar House in Evanston.

Evanston, June 21.—The "Union Depot" presented last evening for the benefit of St. John's Guild drew a hundred dollar house and the play was one of the most entertaining and amusing ever given by local talent.
The acting was of the best and portrayed in a very realistic manner numerous funny characters and scenes which are to be seen in the metropolitan depots. The solos and choruses were unusually good and the whole entertainment was very much appreciated and applauded by the audience.

"Helpful Hints" That Hinders.
Many of the "helpful hints" followed by our mothers are now proved utterly useless, if not more harmful than helpful. For instance, no one now uses moist tea leaves to clean a carpet or rug, because of the inevitable staining. And salt used on a carpet collects dampness and rusts the tacks.
Newspapers, dampened and torn, answer the purpose much more satisfactorily. Rugs should be shaken from the sides, for the strain of the weight on the end is very apt to loosen the wool.

First on Plymouth Rock.
Tradition divides the honor of first setting foot on Plymouth rock between John Alden and Mary Chilton; and allowing Mary Chilton to have been the first person to reach the rock, Alden certainly was the first man to set foot upon it.

Excessive Drinking Orrine Destroys the Craving for Drink. Sold Under Positive Guarantee.

Excessive or continued use of alcoholic beverages always results in a diseased condition of the nervous system.

The drinking man is often heard to say, "I can stop my own free will and when I wish," but the poor fellow is now devoid of the power to act at the proper time and in the right way.
—It's too late, the craving has secured a firm hold and because of the diseased nervous system he has not the ability of sustained effort. The result we all know.

Drunkennes is no longer considered a crime; eminent scientists and physicians have agreed that it is a disease and must be treated as such.
The home treatment that has been used for a number of years, and is highly successful, is Orrine. It is sold under a positive guarantee that if it does not effect a cure your money will be refunded.

Orrine is in two forms. When desiring to give secretly, purchase Orrine
No. 1, and if the patient will voluntarily take the treatment, Orrine
No. 2 should be given. The guarantee is the same in either case. Orrine costs but $1.00 per box. Mailed in plain sealed wrapper on receipt of price. Write for free treatise on "Drunkennes" mailed in sealed envelope by The Orrine Co., Washington, D. C., and in this city by People's Drug Co. and King's Pharmacy.

GOOD WORK.

Done Daily in Janesville. Many Citizens Tell of It.

Nearly every reader has heard of Down's Kidney Pills. Their good work in Janesville still continues, and our citizens are constantly adding endorsement by public testimony. No better proof of merit can be had than the experience of friends and neighbors. Read this case:

Mrs. Annie Kohlert, of 230 Cherry St., Janesville, Wis., says:

"Since using Down's Kidney Pills some years ago for kidney troubles and backache, I have had no hesitation in recommending them to every sufferer I have met. I had used every remedy and tried plasters and did everything I knew of for those complaints, but the trouble grew continually worse, and was fast undermining my general health. About 7 years ago I was in a very bad condition and it was at that time that I learned of Down's Kidney Pills and procured a box at the People's Drug Co. and began using them. Good results followed quickly and a continued treatment brought me a complete cure."

I have never had any kidney trouble since I used Down's Kidney Pills. For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McMillan Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Fuller, the little Japanese actress, has been making a very favorable impression in New York both socially and dramatically. She is making a brave effort to educate the English speaking world to an appreciation of the Japanese play, but encounters many difficulties, about which oddly enough, she numbers the stage manager and the realism that the theatergoers of today find indispensable. In Japan no author would submit the interpretation of his masterpiece to any hands but his own. He draws the scene, dictates not only the costume, but the color and materials as well, and even superintends the dressing of the hair. The western author would find himself in many difficulties if he assumed like duties.

BULLETS FLY IN SHAH'S CAPITAL

HOUSES OF TEHRAN GRANTEES LOOTED BY COSSACKS.

CITIZENS ALSO PLUNDER

Reign of Terror Prevails in Persian City, Which Has Been Placed in State of Siege.

London, June 25.—The Daily Mail's correspondent at Tehran, telegraphing Wednesday evening, says:

"The bazars were reopened Wednesday and for a time everything was quiet. During the course of the afternoon, however, the Cossacks began bombarding some of the grandees' residences in which it was supposed opposition leaders had taken refuge. As usual, looting followed the bombardment, the populace helping the troops to ransack the houses."

"A reign of terror prevails here and it is not known how far the shah is prepared to go in the way of violence. He is now taking steps to prevent an increase of the occasional terrorist attacks on the Cossack patrols."

Citizens Help in Looting.
Berlin, June 25.—A special dispatch to the Local Anzeiger dated Tehran, says:

"Heavy rifle firing recommenced at three o'clock in the afternoon, after a quiet night and morning, but there was very little opposition on the part of the people in the troops. The house of Zehedi-Dowle, the present governor of Reht, was looted. His son was arrested Tuesday and taken before the shah. Many other houses were plundered by citizens, who joined the troops in this work, including one in the European quarter. The Cossack brigade, according to eye-witnesses, even went so far in the lighting as to fire upon the wounded."

Tehran in State of Siege.
Washington, June 25.—It was learned at the Persian legation here that the city of Tehran has been placed in a state of siege by royal order. Owing to existing conditions, the Persian minister said, his government has detailed troops to safeguard the inhabitants against any further attacks by the political clubs gathered at the mosque of Sepahsalar and the Andjounan Azerbaijan, revolutionary organization.

"The state troops having been attacked with rifles and bombs by the revolutionists," said Gen. Morteza Khan, the Persian minister, "and several persons having been killed and wounded, and in order to stop the continuation of these troubles and the effusion of blood, the city of Tehran, by royal order, has been declared in a state of siege."

The minister desired to correct the statement that 30,000 had been killed in political riots in Persia during the past few years, saying that the number would not exceed 3,000.

Asks Receiver for Iowa Bank.
Des Moines, Ia., June 25.—Jacob Bayless, who owns stock in the First National bank of Harvey, which has a capital stock of $25,000, Wednesday filed a petition in federal court asking for the appointment of a receiver for the institution. He declares that under its present management the bank will soon become insolvent, and avers that the controller of the currency is even now preparing to assess the stockholders to obtain money with which to meet the delinquency.

Government Attorney Resigns.
Washington, June 25.—Judge L. F. Parker, Jr., of Vinola, Okla., who was recently appointed assistant attorney general in charge of land litigation in Oklahoma, has resigned, on account of ill health.

Industrial Center of Country.

BELL BOY GETS RICH ON TIPS.
Chicago.—Frank Lawler is the Stratford hotel bellboy, who has saved $24,000 from the business and service "tips" of an extravagant public. He has $20,000 in bank and real estate valued at $20,000.

He says, "I never take tips on the races or on the stock market. I noticed years ago that the bookmakers' checks for dinners ran from $5 to $10, while the fellows who made bets with them were sitting on a stool in a 15-cent joint."

"Once went into stocks with a rich friend who knew it all—we both lost and I said I would never touch them again unless I bought outright for investment."

SENATOR ISAAC STEPHENSON.

United States Senator Isaac Stephenson, of Marinette, has broken his silence and has made his formal announcement that he will be a candidate for re-election at the September primaries.

All hail to Mr. Stephenson. His many friends throughout the state will be glad to learn of his decision and promise him their hearty support.

Since his election as senator Mr. Stephenson has upheld the prestige of the Wisconsin senators in the past by his conservative action, his allegiance to party loyalty, and his vote at critical times for the administration and party measures.

The Gazette is pleased to announce his candidacy and promise him the support in the coming campaign that is due him as a former Rock county resident.

His endorsement of the republican platform of the Chicago convention and his hearty approval of the naming of Taft and Sherman as the nominees of the party are known and need no repetition. In making his formal announcement, Mr. Stephenson says:

"To the people of Wisconsin:

"After long deliberation and having been urged by many citizens in all parts of the state, I have decided to be a candidate for re-election to the United States senate.

"Almost my entire life has been spent in Wisconsin, and throughout a long life I have been interested in the business and the welfare of the state and its citizens. Throughout that time I have been closely identified with the republican party, and have believed in and uniformly supported its measures and its principles.

"In announcing my candidacy I desire to leave no room for discussion as to the position which I occupy, and I therefore at this time declare that I am in full sympathy and harmony with the republican platform recently adopted by the convention at Chicago, and shall in every way aid in the election of the nominees at that convention.

"From the first I have been identified with the progressive movement in Wisconsin, and have aided in every possible way the success of that movement. I therefore am in hearty sympathy with all of the legislation which the republican party has recently placed upon our statute books, including regulation of railroads, public utilities and the strict enforcement of the rights of the people.

"If I am re-elected to the senate, I shall stand for the policies in the institution of which Wisconsin has taken so leading a part, and which have been greatly advanced by President Roosevelt in his administration, and the further advancement of which will be assured by the election of William H. Taft as president."

ISAAC STEPHENSON.

THE STORK AND THE DUCK.

Dr. Walton has introduced a book on "Why Worry," with the following words from Chwang Tze:

"The legs of the stork are long; the legs of the duck are short; you cannot make the legs of the stork short, neither can you make the legs of the duck long. Why worry?"

In other words, why worry about things which cannot be helped? Take life as it comes and make the best of it. There is no use complaining or worrying because one is long and cannot make himself short, or is short and cannot make himself long, or has brains without health, or has health without brains, or is born rich without the advantages of self-development, or is born poor without the opportunity of wealth.

Prof. Laughlin has defined socialism as "the philosophy of failure." It might also be defined as the philosophy of worrying. Socialism is a protest against inequalities that cannot be helped. Men are born with wide differences, physical, mental and moral, and it is impossible by any process of law or any system of economics to remove those differences. Even equality of possession is impossible because of the inherent inequalities of the mind, the temper and the ambition of man. The socialist complains of these inequalities and is constantly inciting the people to worry about their lack of this thing or that thing, hoping that this worrying will finally lead to a political revolution.

But while we cannot get rid of inequalities, we can make the best of the conditions in which we are placed. The duck cannot be a stork, but he can be the best kind of a duck. That is the philosophy of individualism.

WANT WHITEHEAD.

Thirty-five DeWolf business men, heads of big industries and politicians recently gathered to discuss the state senatorial conditions and decided unanimously that they wanted John M. Whitehead of Janesville to again become a candidate for the state senate. It was a tribute not often accorded a man to have such a representative delegation invite him to become a candidate. That Senator Whitehead will doubtless take it as such and make a formal acceptance of the call is assured. Janesville friends of the senator have taken it for granted he will again be a candidate and the Gazette has practically announced his candidacy although not formally. In Senator Whitehead the county of Rock has had an able legislator; the state of Wisconsin a wise councillor. His nomination will mean reelection and he should make no delay in formally announcing himself as a candidate for reelection.

On Monday next the question of who is to be the chief of police or the city marshal of Janesville is to come up for discussion in the circuit court. Let us hope that after this decision is reached by Judge Grimm it may be possible to pay Officer Sam Brown the salary he has earned as one of the most efficient patrolmen on the force.

The good roads movement continues to gain force when the demonstrations of the roads built last year are apparent. Good roads mean good markets and easy transportation to the same of the farmer's products.

There is no doubt in the minds of many of the voters of the state how big that republican majority is going to be in November. In fact, there never was a doubt.

What is more inspiring to read about than a good, cold, snowy story on a nice hot day. It makes you fairly shiver.

Politics "is some hot up" in Iowa just now and the "stand-patters" and the reformers are having it hot and heavy.

It is "Bill" Taft at Yale just the same as it is "Teddy" at Harvard. It is a sign of endorsement that should please the persons so named.

So Janesville is to have no band concerts this year and no Fourth of July celebration or no county fair. Too bad.

Governor Davidson is to walk into the gubernatorial nomination without any apparent effort this time.

Those candidates for sheriff are popping up like sunflowers in a cornfield these warm days.

MY CREED.

"I believe,"
Let the scoffers sneer at my faith if he will, I will ply him because he has no faith of his own. He cannot hurt me nor my faith. He can hurt only himself.

I feel toward him who does not believe as Victor Hugo felt toward the atheist, said Hugo: "There is a philosophy which denies the existence of a God. There is also a philosophy which denies the existence of the soul. This philosophy is called blindness."

What do I believe? This—

I believe in cleanliness of body, mind and soul.

I believe in kindness to man, woman, child and animal.

I believe in truth because it makes me free.

I believe in the charity that begins at home, but doesn't end there.

I believe in mercy as I hope for mercy.

I believe in moral courage because I am more than a brute.

I believe in righteousness because it is the shortest line between two eternities.

I believe in patience because it is the swiftest way to secure results.

I believe in that kind of industry that takes an occasional vacation.

I believe in the sort of economy that spends money for a good purpose.

I believe in honesty, not for policy's sake, but for principle's sake.

I believe in hospitality because it puts a roof over every man's head.

I believe in obedience because it is the only way to learn how to command.

I believe in self control because I want to influence others.

I believe in suffering because it chastens and purifies.

I believe in justice because I believe in God.

Friendship.

A slender acquaintance with the world must convince every man that actions, not words, are the true criterion of the attachment of friends; and that the most liberal professions of good will are very far from being the surest marks of it.—George Washington.

BUSY MORNING AT CITY HALL

DARD GRIFFIN WAS COMMITTED TO POOR HOUSE.

CLARA GRIFFITH ARRESTED

For Persisting in Occupying Resort at 327 South Main Street—Drunks Punished.

On a complaint by Poor Commissioner S. H. Krayon that by reason of sickness and drunkenness he was likely to become a public charge, "Dard" Griffin was this morning committed to the county poor house for six months. "You must stay there," said Judge Fifield after he had passed sentence. "If you don't you will be locked up with the crazy people." Griffin recently injured his right arm and when blood-poisoning set in, went to the county hospital for treatment. While waiting for the cure to be accomplished he is alleged to have stolen away to the city and accumulated a large "load" of "red eye." One of his brothers claims that in his absence "Dard" visited his home and badly frightened his wife.

Bad Customer Jailed.
James Ryan and George Russell, sometimes called "Blackie," pleaded guilty to drunkenness charges and were assessed fines and costs of $2.10 each with the alternative of four days in jail. The same pair were arrested Sunday evening by Officer Champion while demanding money of a woman who was wheeling a baby carriage on Academy street. Prior to that they had badly frightened Mrs. L. S. Dudley, 101 East street, by demanding food and money and threatening to enter her home if the same was not forthcoming. They were released Monday morning and told to get out of town but Russell, it appears, subsequently secured work at W. S. Jeffrey's premises. His case was adjourned this morning, while Ryan was sent to jail. Edward Burke was fined $1 and costs and his case adjourned in order to permit him to get the money.

Mrs. Clara Griffith Arrested.
Mrs. Clara Griffith, wife of Owen Griffith, who came down from Milton Junction Monday night, ostensibly to help take care of a sick woman or cook at Janet Witham Rice's place at 327 South Main street and who was not arrested by the police in the act that same evening, was warned by District Attorney Fisher not to go back to the resort in question. Last evening it was learned by neighbors that she had disregarded these instructions and was not only there but was telephoning to certain parties to come there and visit her. Owen Griffith was also in the house, called there, so he claims, to take care of Bob Witham who had come up from Beloit in an intoxicated and unmanageable condition. This morning a charge of being an inmate of a house of ill fame was preferred against Mrs. Griffith. She pleaded "not guilty" and her trial was set for Saturday morning. She was unable to furnish $500 bail bonds and went to the county jail.

Complaints Against Son.
Julius Lentz made a complaint in court this morning against his son Otto Lentz, charging the latter with abandonment of his seven year old boy, Raymond, and failure to support. When asked where he could be found, the father said: "I saw him Monday lying across my gateway and he was on the porch Tuesday morning. I have given him two or three chances to straighten up but now I am through with him."

Girls Taken to Waupun.
Sheriff I. P. Fisher this morning took fifteen year old Ella Boehm, thirteen year old May McLaughlin, fifteen year old Florence Miller, and sixteen year old Stella McLaughlin to the Girls' Industrial school at Milwaukee. Deputy Sheriff Fred Gillman of Evansville is in charge at the county jail.

MILK FROM ONE HERD OF COWS

We get all of our milk from a single herd of cows, which means a decided advantage over milk gathered from all sources. First: The quality is always about the same.

Second: The herd is inspected every little while for disease and cleanliness.

Third: We watch our herd and see that they are all cared for and give good milk.

It is delivered in bottles or bulk, guaranteed not to sour within 24 hours. You get it exactly as it comes from the cows in all its natural richness. If you desire this milk pasteurized we can furnish it that way. Order by letter or phone 576 white.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, Thursday, June 25, 1868.—Gone to Milton.—The Mutual baseball club has gone to Milton, accompanied by a number of friends to give the college club a trial this afternoon.

Imprisonment.—The hearing of John Rothinger for violation of the terms of his license for selling liquors, takes place at the Council rooms this evening.

Fourth of July.—By a sort of common consent our citizens seem disposed to let a celebration of the Fourth of July go by default this year. Last year we had a very good public celebration, but the work of the day was usually left to the lot of a few to perform, and these generally get enough to last them two years. Hence a quiet observance of the day will characterize the Fourth here we apprehend. But we have no doubt that as much real enjoyment will be realized as if no other demonstrations had been indulged in.

Wholesale Stealing.—Yesterday morning Mr. F. H. Dutton found that his flower garden, which he has taken much pains with had been stolen of nearly all its flowers. Some of the roses were well advanced and enough of the leaves fell off to enable him to trace the thieves to one of the alcoves or hotel's west of the passenger depot. A search warrant revealed the fact that some one at Seaton's had concluded to go into the flower business. We hope Justice Hudson will make the offender smart so that this sort of stealing will be at a discount in the future.

Commencement Exercises.—The commencement exercises of the state university were concluded on Wednesday and passed off more successfully than ever before. The meeting of the university alumni association was held at the Assembly chamber on Tuesday evening. It was presided over by Sheldahl Butkin, of the class of 1857, who announced that it was the fourteenth anniversary of the association, and, as was the custom, an address and poem would be delivered by the members of the association. Dr. A. H. Sahlbury delivered the former and W. W. Church the latter.

The following written definition of the word "bachelor" was handed in by a schoolboy: "A bachelor is a man who has no wife, nor wants no wife, nor can't get no wife."
Day it in Janesville.

The Historical Precedent.

Each of the following named gentlemen, upon being out late with the boys, has conceived a famous excuse, and what is much more wonderful, got away with it. They are: Joseph—Ulysses—Hep—can Winkle—Robinson—Crisco.—Judge.

The Diet.

Do not destroy the digestion by being careless about food. Eat good, easily digested food at regular hours. Let milk, eggs, fruit and vegetables enter largely into the diet. The heavy meal of the day ought to come in the evening when there is time to rest after it.

Diet for Cyclists.

Cyclists will be interested to hear that a doctor has been investigating nutrition for a long distance ride, and has concluded that no meat or other nitrogenous food should be taken while doing the day's work, but that the ideal refreshment is fruit and milk.

BIG LOSS IN OIL FIELDS.

Fires Started by Lightning Destroy $500,000 of Property.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 25.—Over 100,000 barrels of oil consumed by fire, three valuable oil refineries destroyed and an estimated loss of about $500,000, are the results of electric storms which passed over western and northern Pennsylvania Tuesday and Wednesday.

The ignition of the large quantity of oil by lightning caused three spectacular fires at Bradford, Warren and Washington, Pa. The fires are under control, but for a wide area surrounding the destroyed tanks there is a scene of blackened, smoking earth and charred vegetation.

Disaster to Spanish Steamer.

Paris, June 25.—A special dispatch from Corunna, Spain, says that the Spanish steamer La Rache went on the rocks in a fog near Murros, where the tanker Cardinal Cisneros was wrecked in 1905. The La Rache sank rapidly and a panic followed. There were 97 passengers and 54 of a crew aboard. These took to the boats but up to the filing of the dispatch only 47 had landed.

"At the Doctors' Convention"

one thing was very noticeable, viz.:—the extreme popularity of a good bottled beer—a beer of established reputation like

Gund's Peerless Beer

Medical men always display a decided preference for Peerless. Long practical experience of human diet has taught them its healthful superiority. They know it is a true and most delicious liquid extract of the farmer's hops and barley; that it is always properly aged and sterilized; hence cannot hurt them or ferment in the stomach. They are also well aware that hop juice calms the nerves, and acts as a tonic; while the alcohol is an efficient digestive and a generator of energy.

Peerless is a rich amber brew that won the gold medal at the St. Louis Exposition, 1904. Sold everywhere. Ask for it by name. Have a case sent to your home. Mail orders solicited. Telephone, write or call.

Cool, Refreshing Breezes at Home.

A very comfortable summer may be spent at home—right here in Janesville—if you have an electric fan in the house. It affords instant relief in the sultriest weather by stirring the air into healthful motion, creating currents without direct draft. The new models are furnished with blades which revolve noiselessly and may be used in the bed-room at night without disturbing the sleepers.

FOR ONE CENT AN HOUR a house fan can be kept going, making small aggregate cost for the summer, the electricity being turned on and off as needed. Don't deprive yourself of this simple, effective means of keeping cool in hot weather. For particulars write, phone or call

The moment you take Kodol your Digestion Starts

Kodol is liquid, like the digestive juices. It acts the moment you take it.

The pain ends, irritation stops, the food is completely digested. That is not true of other digesters, for they rely largely on pepsin.

Pepsin digests albumen perfectly, but that is all it can do.

Starch, fats and phosphates form most of your food. Pepsin can't digest these.

And it can't do bowel digestion. Yet half of digestion is done by the bowel fluids.

It requires many ingredients to make a perfect digester, and Kodol contains them all.

It digests any food—any mixture of foods—completely.

It does all that the stomach does—all that the bowels do.

You can see it do this in a test tube, under proper conditions. You can feel what it does in the stomach. There can be no doubt about it.

The result is complete relief—complete rest to the stomach.

Medicine can't cure dyspepsia. A weak stomach is like a lame ankle. Nature alone can cure it.

But a cure is impossible while undigested food irritates the stomach lining.

It is impossible so long as the stomach is taxed.

Don't diet—don't starve yourself; for nourishment will do more than medicine.

Let Kodol, for a little time, do all the stomach's work. You will be surprised to see how quickly the stomach then recovers.

Chapter Twenty-four

"His majesty dies tomorrow!" Stenofsky's words seemed to freeze them all stiff where they stood. Even Countess Ellenburg's sons, which had threatened to break forth again, were arrested in their flow.

"Markart, lock the door leading to the king's apartments. Dr. Natchoff and Lejane, carry the king into his bedroom. Lay him on the bed. Stay there till I call you. Countess, general, I leave you in command."

Stenofsky's mind whirled in the waiting game, the slow, tortuous approach, the inch by inch advance of laborious diplomacy. For him this was a war of nerves. The swift and daring intellect of Stenofsky naturally and inevitably took the lead. His strong will fascinated the conference.

"Is this to be the beginning or the end?" he asked. "I am and our friends—whether? If we send a courier to Prasko to call King Sargus to his capital—what then? For you, countess, and your son's obduracy and obscurity at Dobrava for all the rest of your life. Just that! For you, general, and for me and our friends—yes, you, too, Markart—our courage, more or less elvishly given. There would be more insignificant men in all Slavonia on the day King Sargus enters. But there's no King Sargus yet!"

Stenofsky was regarding the use of his brain. His eyes grew distant in deep meditation. Countess Ellenburg looked on and on. Her lips could not utter a false oath—well, she was not asked to swear any oath now. Markart could not think. He stood staring at Stenofsky.

"In half an hour that courier must start for Prasko if he starts at all. Of all things, we mustn't hesitate."

He had pointed the result to them of the coming of King Sargus. It meant the defeat of years of effort. It entailed the end of hopes, of place, of power or influence. There was no future for those three in Kravonia if King Sargus came. And Markart, of course, seemed no more than one of Stenofsky's train.

"And if the courier doesn't start?" asked Stenofsky. He took out a cigar and lit it, asking no leave of the countess. Probably he hardly knew that he was smoking it.

Stenofsky looked at his watch. "Five o'clock. We have twenty-four hours. It would be risky to keep the secret longer. There's not much time. We must be prompt, but we mustn't sacrifice anything to hurry. For instance, it would look bad to present the king's orders to Baroness Dobrava in the middle of the night. She'd smell a rat if she's as clever as they say, and so would the prince, I think. I could have a hundred men at Prasko by midnight, but I shouldn't propose to have them there before 11 o'clock tomorrow. Well, they could be back here by 5 in the afternoon! In the course of the day we'll occupy all the important points of the city with troops we can trust. Then, in the evening, as soon as we see how matters have gone at Prasko, we proclaim King Alexis!"

The countess gave a little shiver, whether of fear or of eagerness it was impossible to tell. Stenofsky drummed his fingers on the table and turned his clear quick round and round in his mouth. Markart had recovered his clearness of mind and closely watched all the scene.

"The countess rose suddenly in strong agitation. 'I—I can't hear it,' she said. 'With him lying there! Let me go! Presently—presently you shall tell me anything.'"

Stenofsky laid down his cigar and went to her. "Wait! there!" he pointed to Natchoff's room—"all you're quite composed. Then go to your own room and wait till I come. Mind, countess, no sign of agitation!" He led her out. Stenofsky shrugged his shoulders.

"She'll be all right," he said to Markart, with a passing smile. "I think she was fond of the king," said Markart.

Stenofsky returned. "Now!" he said, seating himself again and resuming his cigar. "You suggest that we call you that order for the arrest of Baroness Dobrava?"

"It's signed 'Alexis' and King Alexis lives till 5 tomorrow," Markart said.

"Will that make his peaceable obedience more likely?"

"In a moment they'd be at each other's!" He stopped. "Markart, go and see if they need anything in there."

He pointed to the king's bedroom, where Natchoff and Lejane were.

Markart rose and obeyed. His head was swimming. He hardly yet understood how very ingenious the ingenious devilry was, how the one man was to be sent upon his knees, whose presence was an insult, to whom it was impossible to refuse a command. He was very glad to get out of the room. The last he saw was Stenofsky drawing his chair close up to Stenofsky and engaging him in low voiced, earnest talk.

"The king's body lay on the bed, carefully disposed and covered with a large fur rug. Lejane sat on a chair near by, Natchoff on another in the window, looking up for a moment good well, King Alexis lives again for many years after that."

Stenofsky nodded slightly. "The baroness comes willingly or you bring her? At any rate, one way or the other, she's in our hands by this time tomorrow."

"Exactly, general. I fail to perceive what this is all about," he said, waving his hand toward the king's empty chair—"after the case in regard to the baroness one lot."

"Not the least, unless you consider that risking our heads on the throw has any such effect," replied Stenofsky. And for the first time he smiled.

"Once you wanted to play the big stake on a bad hand, general. Won't you put it on the table now, when you've a good one?"

"I'm thinking of a certain strong card in the other hand which you haven't mentioned yet. Baroness Dobrava is to be in our power by this time tomorrow, but what will the Prince of Slavonia do? Still drilling his men at Volski, still waiting for his gun?"

Stenofsky looked him full in the face. "No," he said. "The prince had better not still be drilling his men at Volski nor waiting for his gun."

"I think not, too," Stenofsky agreed, twisting his clear round again.

"General, do you think the prince will let Baroness Dobrava come to Slavonia without him?"

"I don't know. He might have confidence enough in you. He wouldn't wish to annoy or agitate the king. He might await his summons to an audience. On the whole, I think he would submit and rely on being able to induce the king to alter his mind when they met. I'm not sure he wouldn't advise her to go with you."

"Well, yes, I confess that struck me, too, as rather likely or at least possible."

"If it happened it wouldn't be convenient," said Stenofsky, with a patient sigh, "because he would come after her in a day or two."

"But if I were detained by urgent business in Slavonia—and we've agreed that there's work to be done tomorrow in Slavonia—another officer would go to Prasko. The order, which I have here, mentions no name, although the king designated me by word of mouth."

"The order mentions no name?"

"No; it directs the baroness to accompany the bearer. True, at the foot my name is written, 'Entrusted to Colonel Stenofsky.' But with care and a pair of scissors!" He smiled at Markart again, as though taking him into the joke.

"Well, well, suppose another officer goes to Prasko. Why shouldn't the prince trust the baroness to the care of that officer as readily as to you? You don't—how shall I put it—monopolize his confidence, colonel?"

Stenofsky still wore his easy, confidential smile as he answered, with an air of innocent cynicism: "Suppose the officer were Captain Mitchell? I think it's just the job for Captain Mitchell!"

Even Stenofsky started a little at that. He laid down his cigar and looked at his friend the colonel for some seconds. Then he looked at Markart, smiling, seeming to ponder, to watch how Markart was taking it, even to sympathize with Markart on having to consider a rather startling proposal, on having possibly to do some little violence to his feelings. Certainly Captain Markart gathered the impression that Stenofsky was doubtful how he would stand this somewhat staggering suggestion. At last the general turned his eyes back to Stenofsky again.

"That's as ingenious a bit of devilry as I ever heard, colonel," he remarked quietly.

"Captain Mitchell is restored to duty. He's of proper rank to perform such a service and to command an escort of a hundred men. After all, an officer of my rank made a certain concession in accepting so small a command."

"The prince would regard the sending of Mitchell as a deliberate insult."

"I'm afraid he would."

"It's hot tempered. He'd probably say so much."

"Yes, and Mitchell is hot tempered. He'd probably resent the observation. But you'll remember, general, that the escort is to be large enough to make the officer commanding it secure against hindrance by any act short of open and armed resistance to the king's command."

"He'll never believe the king would send Mitchell!"

"Will that make his peaceable obedience more likely?"

"In a moment they'd be at each other's!" He stopped. "Markart, go and see if they need anything in there."

He pointed to the king's bedroom, where Natchoff and Lejane were.

Markart rose and obeyed. His head was swimming. He hardly yet understood how very ingenious the ingenious devilry was, how the one man was to be sent upon his knees, whose presence was an insult, to whom it was impossible to refuse a command. He was very glad to get out of the room. The last he saw was Stenofsky drawing his chair close up to Stenofsky and engaging him in low voiced, earnest talk.

"The king's body lay on the bed, carefully disposed and covered with a large fur rug. Lejane sat on a chair near by, Natchoff on another in the window, looking up for a moment as Markart entered, but neither spoke. Markart found a third chair and sat down. Nobody said anything. The three were as silent and almost as still as the fourth on the bed. A low murmur of voices came from the next room. The words were indistinguishable. So passed half an hour. A strange and terrible half hour it seemed to Markart.

The door opened, and Stenofsky called. The physician rose and followed him. Another twenty minutes went by, still in silence, but once Markart, looking for a moment at his mute companion, saw a tear rolling slowly down Lejane's wrinkled cheek. Lejane saw him looking and broke the silence.

"I suppose I helped to kill him?" Markart shrugged his shoulders helplessly. Silence came again. Very long it seemed; but, on looking at his watch, Markart found that it was not yet half past 6.

Again the door opened, and Stenofsky called to them both. They followed him into the next room. Stenofsky was sitting at the table, with his hands clasped on it in front of him. Stenofsky took up a position by his side, standing as though on duty. Natchoff had disappeared. Stenofsky spoke in calm, deliberate tones. He seemed to have assumed command of the operations again.

"Captain Markart, I'm about to intrust to you an important and responsible duty. For the next twenty-four hours and afterwards until relieved by my orders you will be in charge of this man Lejane and will detain him in these apartments. His own room and this room will be at the disposal of yourself and your prisoner, but you must not let the prisoner out of your sight. Dr. Natchoff remains in his room. He will have access to the king's room when he desires, but he will not leave the suit of apartments. Beyond seeing to this you will have no responsibility for him. The door leading to the suit will be locked by me and will be opened only by me or by my orders. I remain at the palace tonight. Under his Captain Markart will be the officer on guard. He will himself supply you with any means or other refreshments which you may require. Bring this hand bell on the table—no other bell, mind—and he will be with you immediately. Do you understand your orders?"

Markart understood them very well. There was no need of Stenofsky's mocking little smile to point the meaning. Markart was to be Lejane's jailer; Stenofsky was to be his. Under the most civil and considerate form he was made as close a prisoner as the man he guarded. Evidently Stenofsky had come to the conclusion that he could not ask Markart to put too great a strain on his conscience. The general, however, seemed very kindly disposed toward him and was, indeed, almost apologetic.

"I've every hope that this responsible and, I fear, very irksome duty may last only the few hours I mentioned. You put me under a personal obligation by undertaking it, my dear Markart."

In the absence of any choice Markart saluted and answered, "I understand my orders, general."

Stenofsky interposed, "Captain Markart is also aware of their purport."

TWELFTH BATTERY HELD A REUNION

Survivors of Battery Recruited From Janesville in Sixties Met at Racine.

Many things of interest might be mentioned of the Department (Campment G. A. R., at Racine, last week, of a side issue and notably it may be said was the reunion of the Twelfth Wisconsin Battery. By prior arrangements, Capt. E. G. Harlow of this city, (the only surviving commissioned officer) by strenuous effort had made the gathering possible. The following members of the Battery are residing in Janesville at the present time: E. G. Harlow, Jas. E. Croft, C. Jackson, Jerome Hawward, Frank Wood, H. B. Sexton, John M. Matthews. The other members in attendance were, S. H. Hamilton, Clinton, Kansas; L. Chavson, Hartford, Wis.; E. B. Fish, Detroit, Kansas; O. W. Wallace, Chicago, Ill.; W. W. Deock, Marengo, Ill.

The leading feature of this coming together was for a battery reunion, and for the purpose of selecting a "Daughter of the Battery," the program being as follows: Song, by the writer, rearranged for the occasion, entitled, "Twelfth Battery Boys." An eloquent and touching address by S. H. Hamilton, of the organization, chosen to preside, who also read resolutions, the same being adopted. Capt. Harlow, in a very pleasing manner, presented a badge to Mrs. Emma Zickler, daughter of the late William Zickler, captain of the battery, creating her "Daughter of the Twelfth Wisconsin Battery." The exercises closed by all singing "God be with you 'til we meet again." A few friends had been invited to witness the ceremonies which were conducted in the Christian Scientist church.

It would be difficult to adequately speak of the deep interest manifested among this small remnant of war-time veterans there assembled and of the sadness of the occasion. To use the words of a member: "I could not possibly endure such an experience of sadness again." The badge presented was made for the occasion and was of gold beautifully inscribed.

The Twelfth Wisconsin Battery might justly be called a Janesville organization as it was recruited principally from this city by Capt. Harlow who sent forward sixteen men to reinforce the depleted ranks. With this body of young men and their recruiting officer, went forth a beautiful silk flag, the loving gift of Janesville ladies, who asked that it be returned. Today the flag is proudly kept at the state capital bearing on its staff the marks of seven bullets and two shells and on its field one hundred and seven bullets and two shells, which speak volumes for the terrible experience of those over whom it floated.

The total enlistment of the battery was two hundred and sixty-eight, its engagements numbered from eighteen to twenty, including the siege of Vicksburg, battles of Corinth, Missionary Ridge, Atlanta, Savannah, etc. James E. Croft carried a mark of distinction (a badge) given him by congress for great bravery shown at Atlanta, where Lieut. Amston and seven others from Janesville fell, scarcely a man remained untouched of the gallant 12th at this terrible, yet victorious fight for the union cause.

Quite a number of our citizens remain who were doubtless among those to say good-bye to these brave boys who departed for the front, very many of whom never returned. Their deeds remain, and with the thousands all over the broad land, history will tell the story.

FINISHED SERMON FOR HUBBY.

Wife's Readiness and Eloquence That Was Altogether Unappreciated.

"Speaking of wives' duties," said the Munnymunk philosopher, "I once attended service at a Unitarian church in Brooklyn when the pastor's voice went back on him. Went back altogether, it did. He stood there before us in the pulpit silently opening and shutting his mouth like a fish.

"His wife came quickly from her pew, and mounting into the pulpit, she waved her husband aside, took up the sermon where he had left off, finished it eloquently and afterward brought the morning service to a conclusion with prayer."

"How very helpful that was," said a listener.

"Yet the husband didn't think so," said the philosopher. "He called it off-licious, was quite angry, said his wife had been trying to show off."

"The question is," the philosopher concluded, "can a wife in her helpful zeal go too far?"

The Philosophy of Folly.

"They say," observes the Philosopher of Folly, "that it takes nine tailors to make a man. I always acknowledge the truth of this old proverb when one of these dudes boasts that he has patronized the same tailor all his life."—Spokesman Review.

Put a Bull Behind the Bars

We call especial attention to the hinge joint at each intersection of stay with main bars.

This is the essential of every good wire fence. Unless the stay has a hinge joint the fence cannot receive pressure from contact and right itself. All right stay fences have been unsatisfactory and disappointing, as they crush down and when once down, remain so.

AMERICAN FENCE

Is made with a hinge joint, by which the maximum of elasticity is secured and the fence if properly stretched, remains in place indefinitely. With the hinge joint, no amount of strain on the bars can effect the connection of stay and bar, while the opposite is true of all rigid stay fences.
